VOL XIX.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1897.

NO. 6.

Inventory Sale

An invoice always brings to light odds and ends and sometimes full lines of seasonable good that a merchant prefers to sell at cost and even at less than cost rather than carry them over.

We have just finished our January invoice and it has brought out an unusually large lot of odds and ends that we are very anxious to close out and if prices will do it it will be done.

Haven't room to itemize, but you can count on finding tremendous bargains in every department in our store.

CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Fire to Cover Crime—New Bank President—Carl Moore Captures Premiums—Burned to Death—Shoebox Dislocated.

Coal Crate Damaged by Fire.

The L. & N. coal chute at Guthrie was partially destroyed by fire last Thursday. Loss about $300. Origin of the fire is not known.

Fire Near Trenton.

The dwelling house of Mr. C. F. Stock, a farmer living near Trenton, together with its entire contents, was destroyed by fire Friday night. The loss is about $2,000; insured for $1,000. The supposition is that the building caught from a defective fuse.

Committee Meeting To-Morrow.

The Democratic committee of the Third judicial district will meet at Eddyville to incorporate for a time and method for settling the district nomination. Mr. H. W. Harding of Calhoun, in chairman and Mr. Isaac Garrett, of Christian, secretary of the committee.

Shoulder Dislocated.

Mr. Herbert Amos, of Cobb, had the misfortune to get one of his shoulders dislocated a few days ago. His horse fell with him, causing the accident. The displaced member was soon set by Dr. C. C. Cobb and Mr. Amos is now getting along quite nicely and is experiencing less trouble than was at first anticipated.

Date of Reunion Changed.

The date of the reunion of Confederate veterans at Nashville, has been changed from May 5, 6 and 7 to June 22, 23 and 24, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, respectively. June was thought to be a more favorable season than the former, and it will also be further advanced and much more enjoyable for those who desire to visit the great show, than in May.

Death of an Old Lady.

Croton, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Kate Armstrong, an aged and highly respected lady, is dead. She had only been sick a fortnight, being 88 years old. Mrs. Armstrong was the widow of the late Lawrence Armstrong and belonged to a prominent family. Three brothers, aged 84, 86 and 94 years, respectively survive her.

Fusion Deaf Closed.

The Democratic and Populist committee of the fourth judicial district, in joint session at Princeton, decided upon a fusion and issued a call for a district convention at Princeton April 8 to select a candidate for judge and attorney. A senatorial convention was also called for April 7, at Marion. Delegates to these conventions are to be appointed April 5th, the primaries to be held April 8. "All supporters of Bryan" are admitted.

Cashed Another Man's Check.

Cheif Fritz arrested Jo. L. Martin, an Earlinton negro Saturday afternoon, near the L. & N. depot on a warrant from Hopkins county, charging him with the killing of a traveling man named J. L. Martin. It is thought that the negro, soon as he came in possession of the check, went back to Earlinton, was identified and J. M. Gant of Co. L, was arrested for the money. This occurred some weeks ago. Marshal Barnett, of Earlinton, has been at work on the case ever since and came here Saturday morning in search of his man. The local police were notified and he was soon taken in as above stated. The marshal immediately left for Earlinton with his prisoner.

A New Bank President.

The Board of Directors of the Bank of Hopkinsville at a meeting held Friday night elected Mr. Henry C. Gant to the presidency of the bank. Mr. J. Edgar McPherson, who has been temporarily filling both offices, resumed his old duties as cashier. Mr. Gant is one of Hopkinsville's oldest residents and it is expected he will enter upon his new duties thoroughly conversant with the work to be done. He is largely interested in the bank as a stockholder and has for many years been one of the directors and actively interested in the management. He is a successful business man and is standing as a man and a citizen, and his popularity as a gentleman will make his selection a satisfactory one to the patrons of the bank.

Mr. H. L. McPherson, bookkeeper in the bank, was promoted to the position of assistant cashier, which position his friends predict will be but a stepping stone to the higher honor that awaits him.

Fire children were drowned while skating in St. Louis.

Fire at Henderson gutted the store of S. & E. Oberdorfer, causing a loss of $20,000, fully insured.

DEAD IN HAWAII.

MINISTER WILLIS EXPIRES ON A FAR AWAY ISLAND.

A Kentucky Diplomat's Long Illness Terminates in Death—Sketch of His Career.

San Francisco, January 15.—The steamer Monowai, which arrived at midnight, brought advices from Honolulu to the effect that United States Minister Albert S. Willis died at 9:30 a. m. on January 6, after an illness covering several months, resulting from the attack of pneumonia he suffered while on his vacation to the United States.

In April last the Minister and family left Hawaii for a visit to their old home at Louisville. While in San Francisco, on the return trip, the Minister contracted a severe cold, which settled upon his lungs. This was the immediate cause of his death. At noon on October 31, while leaving church, Mr. Willis, the good wife, was taken to a physician's office and soon recovered sufficiently to return to his home at Waikiki. He never left it again.

Hon. Albert S. Willis was a Kentuckian by birth, having been born in Shelby county January 22, 1842, father, Dr. John S. Willis, a near relative of Isaac Shelby, the first Governor of Kentucky. His mother before her marriage was Miss Harriet Button, of Oldham county.

When a mere boy his family moved to Louisville, and he was educated in the Louisville public schools, being a classmate of the High School girls. He was elected county attorney in 1870 and '74, and Congressman in 1876, and was re-elected four times. He was defeated in the primary election of 1886 by A. G. Garth. He was appointed to his late position three years ago.

OUR Annual Clearance Sale

FOR 15 DAYS

BEGINS MONDAY JAN. 18.

PREPARE TO BE PLEASED.

It's a blessing to be within reach of such an opportunity. We make prices which you can't resist.

In absolute bargains it eclipses them all. Our Annual Inventory brought out the fact that in many lines we are too heavy stocked at this season of the year. We have determined to reduce them in order to make room for our Spring Stock. We have not permitted greed for profit to deter us in the least. We have made up our minds to let them go, Profit or no profit, Cost or no Cost.

Ready with Our Bargains.

Above us stands no competing stock, below us lie no competing prices; we will commence with bargains, we will continue with bargains.

FIFTEEN DAYS of Bargains Unequaled in History!

Mark Hanna is a candidate for the Senate from Ohio, to succeed John Sherman, who is to be Secretary of State.India has no Republican administration, but she has the next worse thing—a plague that is rapidly populating the country.Representative Jas. A. Violette, the renegade Democrat of Frankfort, has wound up as a candidate for county judge of Franklin county on the Republican ticket.They actually hanged a man in Florida the other day for killing a Pullman car porter. At this rate it will soon be considered a crime to kill an exchange friend.An Ohio magistrate in a test case at Cincinnati has decided that a $50 bet that McKinley would carry Kentucky should be drawn, it being a gambling transaction and unlawful.Joel T. Headley, author of "Washington and His Generals," "Napoleon and His Marshals" and other historical books, has just died at Newberg, New York, aged 83 years.The Louisville Times, a high authority on G. O. P. matters, says the negroes are raising Cain because some of them were invited to Sam Roberts' big political feed in Louisville. A few were present, but only as waiters.Before writing its "better times" editorial Sunday, the Courier Journal should have read its own telegraphic reports from Owensboro, where C. E.
Mitchell, a leading merchant, failed Saturday for $10,000.Secretary Carlisle has abandoned the idea of putting the pictures of Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin, and Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the reaper, on the new $10 certificates. Protests came thick and fast from rival inventors all over the country.A newspaper published at Jerome, Arizona, advertises to an army of marriageable women to supply a pressing demand for wives. There are 500 men, young and old, in the town who want wives, and only three or four marriageable young ladies.
The town has a population of 1800, in spite of the drawbacks it has to contend against.The Democrats of Marshall county have called a primary election for April 10 and shut out of it all silver men who will not declare that it is their "bona fide intention to affiliate herself with the Democratic party." The committee has taken a contrary course from that recommended by the State Executive committee. The silver forces must be united and not divided. The Marshall Democrats should get together again and try it over. They have made a mistake.In 1892 the editors of the Crittenton Press and the Kentuckian were both delegates to the Chicago convention and both voted for Grover Cleveland. In his last issue the editor of the Press rises to remark:"Only forty nine more days of Grover Cleveland. His administration has been the severest blow the Democratic party has had in a quarter of a century. If it survives, it will be a potent influence for another con-tury."By the way, Bro. Walker, suppose we meet at same half way point and have a mutual pants kicking.Mr. Watterson grows spiteful as he sees himself discredited and distrusted.
In a two-column defense of himself he compares himself to Moses in the wilderness and avows that the average silly man is "no gentleman." Seating with a hot box, he gets worse as he runs and freely indulges in such words as "visionary extremist," "fools," "dogs," "authority," "repudiation," etc. He concludes with a threat and some silly vaporings that only amuse.
For the life of us we can't feel unkindly towards this once honored leader. Rather let his old associates pity him in his fall.In its issue of Sunday the Courier-Journal commented editorially upon a sensational advance in stocks, predicting better times, which it professed to have discovered on Friday.
That this "prosperity" does not exist is a fact shown by the following extracts from the commercial reports of the two leading agencies on Saturday:From Bradstreet's report: "Except a few Southern cities, as reported last week, there is no general change in trade features and few in indications of improvement in the near future. Mercantile collections continue slow. There has been no relief in textile circles. Cotton goods continues depressed at first hands, and while prospects for improvement are not bad, after production has been restricted."Prices this week show advances for leather, pork, lard, petroleum and cotton, while decreases are reported in prices of hams, wheat, corn, coffee, pig iron and steel billets. Heavy stocks continue to depress cotton goods. Iron and steel have not met the increased demand expected, while sugar and coffee prices have been affected by competition and are reported as having been the best in the last five years in the United States this week, compared with 488 last week, 412 in the second week in January last year, 887 in the week of 1896, and as compared with 404 in the corresponding week of 1894."These figures show 906 failures in two weeks, the number for the week being higher than the corresponding week of any year given. It is proper to add that many of the failures were banks and other large concerns. But this is only a part of the record.Dunn's review evidently tries hard to put a favorable aspect on existing conditions, but a decline is noted in pig iron and woolen goods and other articles and the following admission is made to textiles:"Textile manufacturers are not encouraged by the demand for goods, though more print cloths were sold than for many weeks. Lower prices are expected in goods, and slow buying is natural since cotton has fallen 17.8 per cent from Sept. 11, print cloths 32 to 53 and woolen goods 22 and 4 per cent."Cotton and tobacco are the two staple crops now on hand and these are low down and still declining. The fact in the case are not altered by the stock gambling in Wall street.

it may—but it is not yet in sight.J. Pierpont Morgan, who was

PLAQUE AND FAMINE.

INDIA'S DOUBLE CURSE AROUSING THE WORLD.Thousands Dying Daily From Disease and Starvation—Appeals To The World For Aid.London, Jan. 16.—The eyes of the European world are turned this week toward India, each day's intelligence from that stricken land making it more apparent that the greatest tragedy in modern history is being wrought. The scenes of famine and plague are as ghastly as any scenes of famine and plague. The heart of Europe has been touched at last and the universal sympathy is perhaps more keen because it is now timed with apprehension. It would not be surprising if within a month of the time of writing panic should spread through Europe. The great powers show alarm and the news comes that Italy has summoned an international conference to meet forthwith at Rome to consider measures for dealing with the danger.It is to be doubted that the response of other governments will be speedily arrayed against this hideous foe. Reliable information about the real extent of the plague in Bombay and vicinity is lacking, and regarding the mortality it is only said in general terms that more than half of those attacked succumb.The ravages of the famine in the interior of India are still far more deadly than the more horrible plague at Bombay. The victims of the plague are perishing by hundreds daily, but the victims of hunger succum by thousands daily.It is sufficient to say that the gaunt, starving millions of India are perishing at a more rapid rate than any ever suffered before by the most deadly engines of destruction devised by man. The plague is apparently in full operation. The public conscience and sympathy in this country have both been fully aroused. The response to the appeal is liberal, but utterly impossible.The proportion of givers to the sufferers is about one in a thousand.
It will require the good will of the whole world to oppose a real check to the ravages of hunger in India.The Pacific Railroad Funding Bill was defeated in the House by a vote of 192 to 170, the reverse majority of 36. The friends were beaten by such an overwhelming defeat, and when the final test of strength came they were found to be without organization. The vote disposed of a proposition that has been before Congress and the public for a dozen years.James A. Mount was inaugurated

The Kentucky Congressmen Pushing His

Measure

Congressman Clardy has received permission from the Committee on Ways and Means to tender a written statement calculated to open foreign markets to the individual purchasers of tobacco in the United States. England and Germany are the only countries which have free markets and offer to the American farmer an opportunity to sell his tobacco.France, Italy and Spain and some other countries have free markets but it is only said in general terms what is termed "free" contracts.The contracts are let to individuals and firms, they agreeing to furnishso many hogheads of the particular types wanted at a stipulated price.The entire trade in these countries is controlled by contractors but a Government monopoly is the worstkind because these contractors are few in number and having an abundant supply get together and fix the price of all export grades. The farmer is thereby forced to submit or abandon his tobacco.Dr. Clardy's statement points out how the obstructions may be removed by friendly conference and will be submitted the latter part of the week.—Washington Special.

THE BALDHEADED CLUB.

OPEN SESSION HELD AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

President Cooper inaugurated and Dances Bald Heads—A Large and Enthusiastic Crowd Present.

At last the veil of secrecy that has for five years been thrown around the Baldheaded Club has been raised and the public given an opportunity to see the club in session.

The new officers were publicly installed at the Opera House Saturday night and the event was one of the most exciting episodes in the history of Hopkinsville. Nothing has created so much excitement since the police put on their new uniforms.

Manager Galbreath, who is cultivating a nice little bald spot on the back of his head, and Councilman Holland, who expects to be bald some day—when he gets married—very kindly donated the use of the Opera House, and the crowd that turned out to listen to the speeches was even larger than it would have been at a dollar a head.

All of the members were there and a number of visitors.

Letters of regret were received from absent members, among them Col. E. Polk Johnson, now in London, Eng. land; Col. Wm. Cowan of Joliet, Ill., and Col. A. D. Rodgers of Henderson, Ky., all expressing regret that they could not be on hand to hear Col. Cooper's speech.

Many ladies graced the occasion with their presence and it took the usual time sometime to get the vast audience comfortably seated.

The members of the club occupied seats on the stage, and President Pyle and President-elect Cooper were seated in the center of a human crest, while Vice-President Ort and Col. Bill Benge were on the floor.

Before the exercises were opened, Col. Bill Cooper superintended the stretching of a wire netting in front of the stage. He explained in an undertone to Manager Galbreath that the orator of the evening was the only he had, and he didn't want him to get his hair combed and things when he was orating.

President Pyle opened the exercises by welcoming the visitors in a cordial manner. He said the meetings of the club had heretofore been so secretly held that many persons refused to credit the truth of the statement, and the ports of the world had even doubted the existence of the noble organization of which every member was proud to be enrolled as a brother. To settle once for all this question, it had been determined to hold this open session and he concluded by presenting the President-elect to deliver his inaugural address.

Col. Cooper is one of the original baldheaded men of the city. In fact he is so bald that even the butter he uses in his hotel is free from the vice slanders sometimes indulged in by humorous paragraphs.

"You'd scarce expect one of my go to speak in public on the stage, but that's the way I am. I'm going to do."

From the foundation of the world to the present time a bald head has been a mark of distinction and a crown of honor. (Applause.)

Consult the pictures in any history and you will find that nearly all very great men have kept their heads from hirsute incubrations. I might enumerate hundreds of shewing examples, but I am not here to call names.

Most men are born free from hair and sin. Many as they grow older develop a hair on their heads in their bodies. Many who might with profit cultivate the exterior of their persons, waste their time and energies in growing upon the exterior of their craniums a useless covering that serves no good purpose and which if not kept combed will become a standing nuisance.

There are many reasons why hair on the head is a disadvantage. It is unsightly. It is apt to be red in youth and white in old age. It may be coarse in texture, tangled, bushy, and full of hayseed unless certain conditions.

(Col. Cooper was observed to move rapidly in his chair at this observation.) In summer it is hot and in winter the winds blow through it. In the Scriptures we are told of at least one instance where a promising young man was caught in the limbs of a tree by the hair of his head and lost his life. Better to be either bald or have been in hell than if he had been bald. In another book we are told that some bad boys were punished with death because they laughed at a prophet's bald head. You see from this that hair on the head is likely to get one into serious trouble. Come with me a moment and I will tell you where the Indians who inhabited this country removed the scalps of pioneers with hairy heads, but whenever heard of a bald headed man being scalped by an Indian! Even in every day life there is hardly a married man present who will not testify that hair on the head is not only useless but often dangerous.

I have indulged in these remarks because I think it is necessary to defend a bald head in public. The orator took his seat and immediately there were loud calls for "Ort! Ort!" Vice President Ort came smilingly to the front with a beautiful blush on his florid features, that suffused his face and his broad expanse of brow that extended from the eyes to the neck.

Col. Ort began to unroll a huge manuscript, and the effect was electric.

There could not have been more excitement created if somebody had broken a ten dollar bill in the village of Clarksville. In a moment hundred men were on their feet, some trying to get to the door, some beginning to sing and some with rapturous voices upon their faces.

At moment Col. Ort appeared to be undecided. Then he put up his manuscript and said: "I hope you didn't think I was going to read a speech. I was going to offer a resolution that the club set up a fund for the bald, but I will do so in such a clause as this: As for a speech, you have already heard Col. Cooper has just worked off."

Col. Ort abruptly sat down after this and was not heard from again during the session.

A brief program was then presented, in which a large number of the members took part. Space will not permit a detailed account of these exercises.

At 10:10 the club went into executive session to initiate several new members, and at 11:20 adjourned.

Some First Things.

The first public library was established in New York in 1700. The first stationary steam engine was put up in Philadelphia in 1773. The first paper mill was put in operation in Roxborough, Pa., in 1890. The first straw paper manufactured in the country was made in 1823. The first solid petticoat was made by hand in New York city in 1830. Philadelphia was the first city to have a directory, doing so first in 1783. The first post office in the country was that of New York, established by act of parliament in 1710. The first railroad was laid in 1826 from the granite quarries of Quincy, Mass., to the Neponset river, three miles. The first telephone wire was stretched from Boston to Somerville, three miles, in 1877.

NOTES

They Have Cut a Prominent Figure in the World's History.

There is probably some truth which underlies the popular expression about following the nose and the nose leading people into trouble, writes Nathan Haskell Dole in The Times and the Hour. All noses certainly have a great degree of separate individuality. The hair and the beard have a life of their own, and grow even after death.

Noses wax and wane during life. The ambitious pug of the snuffing schoolboy may grow into the "nobiest Roman of them all" by middle age. A series of such influence as Napoleon experienced at Borodino permanently colored and broadened the fine delicate Italian nostrils of Maria, Elisa and St. Helena. Nasal mutinies et nos cum illis! The noses of women, too, have had a tremendous influence on the fate of the world. How the fancy revels in the ideas of the tilted, deep-circled, or titillating noses of Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, Aspasia, and the other fair women, and in art, of history! Of one heroism it is said: "Elle avait un de ces petits nez, legerement retroussés qui cherchent les aventures et les exploits!"

Doctors have now and then arisen who have claimed the power to reshape and perfect the nose. From the clumsy device adopted by nurses of clapping a clothespin across the cartilage and pinching it into narrower limits, up to the more scientific procedure of the proboscologists. In surgery to make it, there are many operations of skill, and yet how loath the possessors of the homeliest nose must be to permit experiments to be made upon it. A sort of divinity seems to hedge the dignity of the nose—the unconfessed acknowledgment of its personality. It has been recently discovered that a great many diseases are traceable to the nose, and a French savant has proposed that as the sense of smell is becoming extinct under the influence of civilization, and as the average nose is regarded with a larger proportion of disagreeable and offensive odors than of pleasant and beneficial ones, it would be well to extirpate the organ entirely. The man of the future promises to be hairless; if he were noseless also he would have little to distinguish him individually.

DOCTORS

Electricians Overcome One Annoyance of the Present System.

We have busy men who talk on the telephone his public is always tried to learn that the man he wishes to communicate with is "busy talking." On some much-occupied lines this may happen often as to become a positive nuisance, and the inconvenience of it is often as to be felt in many directions.

The incidental loss of money or time may fall on the called subscriber as well as the caller, as after one or two vain endeavor to make the connection, a call is likely to be directed elsewhere.

The simplest form of relief for an overtaxed line is a double-track connection with the central office—two separate lines and stations, using one for outward and the other for inward calls. Many people are now adopting this, and with gratifying results. In cases where the telephone is not used to the limit, the heavy requirements of the line a sub-exchange system has been provided. This enables any amount of business to be coped with, whatever its volume. It consists in placing telephone stations in different offices of an establishment as may be required. These are connected to a small switchboard, from which trunk lines run to the nearest central office. The most striking point afforded by these improvements, apart from their manifest advantages, is the way in which they suggest that we are but just entering the era of luxurious telephony, and before long the telephone will be used for social, business and even conversational purposes to an extent never dreamed of.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Scribner's Magazine

A RED-LETTER YEAR FOR 1897

THE entire novelty of many of the plans for 1897 is noticeable. For instance, the series devoted to

"London as Seen by Charles Dana Gibson."

Mr. Gibson's drawings appeared as a series in the "London last summer for Scribner's Magazine for the purpose of depicting the scenes and types which the huge metropolis presents.

Of course, in the first considerable Novel by Richard Harding Davis, "Soldiers of Fortune," The hero is one of the most vigorous and interesting characters that has ever been created by C. D. Gilson.

"The Conduct of Great Businesses," A beautifully illustrated series of articles of which the illustrations are already completed.

"The Great Reptile Store," "The Great Hotel," "The Working of the Bank," "The Working of the Stock Exchange,"

"Up-to-Date Life in American Colleges," A series of articles touching upon the life of our older universities as represented by Judge Henry Howland writes on "Undergraduate Life at Yale."

"The Great Princeton," and Robert Grant and Edward S. Martin on "Princeton."

"Japan and China Since the War," will be a most interesting group of articles.

"The Unquiet Six," Under the title of "The Unquiet Six," Mrs. Helen Watterson Moody will write a series of articles on "College-Bred Women."

"The Case of Marie," a paper on "The Travels of Our Missis," Their Ways and Melancholy. The illustrations by American artists will be unique.

W. D. Howells' "Story of a Play,"

In this Mr. Howells gives us the best novel of the year, and in his delightful vein of light comedy.

George W. Cable's

"The Southern Renaissance," will be a series of four short stories by George Cable, the only ones he has written since his "The Burden of Life."

How to Travel Wisely

With a minimum of wear and tear must be the "How to Travel Wisely," by Mr. Lewis Morris. It is divided into articles, will offer a variety of useful suggestions for the tourist.

This will be happily rounded out by an article on "Travels on the Mississippi,"
